Books Received
BOOKS RECEIVED

CRIMINAL INTERROGATION AND CONFESSIONS, 2ND EDITION. By Fred E. Inbau and John E. Reid. Baltimore: The Williams and Wilkins Co., 1967. Pp. xiii, 224. $8.00. A second edition of this publication was made necessary as a result of Miranda v. Arizona and as such the authors attempt to conform to the requirements of that decision.

THE DEVELOPING EUROPEAN LAW OF HUMAN RIGHTS. By Clovis C. Morrison, Jr. Leyden, Neth.: A.W. Sijthoff, 1967. Pp. 247. $6.75. A presentation of the author's thesis that the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms is a "qualified success." In support, the author critically examines the Convention, the judicial and enforcement agencies created by it and the effect of the jurisprudence of these agencies on the entire system.
Divorce and Remarriage: Towards a New Catholic Teaching. By Victor J. Pospishil. New York: Herder and Herder, 1967. Pp. 217. $4.95. A proposal that the Catholic Church possesses the power and authority to grant total divorce as well as the power to permit the remarriage of divorced Christians.

The Dynamics of Compliance: Supreme Court Decision-Making from a New Perspective. By Richard M. Johnson. Evanston: Northwestern University Press, 1967. Pp. x, 176. $5.95. Written by a political scientist whose premise is that to clearly and fully understand Supreme Court decision-making one must look at the results of the Court's policy statements.

Essays on Mental Incapacity and Criminal Conduct. By Helen Silving. Springfield: Charles C Thomas Publishers, 1967. Pp. xvi, 379. $15.50. An attempt to illustrate that the direction of penal reform in the mental incapacity areas should be determined by a conscious choice of a philosophy of justice. Also included are evaluations of the various tests for legal insanity.

NEW NATIONS AND THE LAW OF NATIONS. By S. Prakash Sinha. Leyden, Neth.: A.W. Sijthoff, 1967. Pp. 174. $5.60. An examination of the role of the emerging nations in accepting or rejecting universal principles of international law and the forces at work fashioning new principles.

ON LAW AND JUSTICE. By Paul A. Freund. Cambridge: The Belknap Press of Harvard University, 1968. Pp. vi, 259. A collection of the author's essays, lectures and articles supporting his thesis that the truths which the law seeks are found not in the result but rather in the process by which the result is reached.

Soviet theories of international law and their role in supporting specific Soviet policies in international relations.

Punishment and Responsibility: Essays in the Philosophy of Law. By H.L.A. Hart. New York: Oxford University Press, 1968. Pp. viii, 271. $5.00. Professor Hart considers the rationale of the doctrine of mens rea and analyzes specific conditions of criminal responsibility. Also discussed are the interrelationship of the mental state and responsibility in criminal law with emphasis on the distinction between responsibility and retribution.

Trial Manual for the Defense of Criminal Cases. By Anthony G. Amsterdam, Bernard L. Segal and Martin K. Miller. Philadelphia: American Trial Institute, 1967. Pp. xxiii, 365. $35.00. A two-volume work designed to provide the legal profession with an effective tool for the defense of persons charged with a crime. Included are a summary of the criminal process, the applicable principles and the essential steps in the defense of the person charged.

The Two Swords: Commentaries and Cases in Religion and Education. By Donald E. Boles. Ames: The Iowa State University Press, 1967. Pp. xxiii, 407. $10.95. A comprehensive analysis of the multi-faceted nature of the debate over religion in public education. The primary emphasis is upon the public schools but also explored are a variety of related problems which have long plagued the private schools.